LIBBEY...

Momentous, historic year of nineteen hundred forty-five, fraught with myriad moments of joy and hope and pain! In Europe vast armies, moving mightily, crush and defeat the forces of hate and evil. Like sure swift stabs of lightning, the squadrons of right strike through the Pacific to conquer the cruelty of an infamous foe. World powers meet to propound laws for a lasting peace.

. . . A WORLD INFLUENCE

And everywhere floats our glorious American flag, borne aloft by our stalwart sons who strive to bring the world those freedoms that will make enduring peace! Our hearts, our prayers, are with them. Nearer and nearer they reach their goal! Guardians of Liberty! Defenders of Democracy! Beatific peacemakers! They do, in truth, merit the right to be called the children of God!

. . . AND FOREIGN LANDS

REQUIEM

Sleep softly, soldier lad, wherever you may lie,
While sighing winds sing requiems
And sentinel stars stand by.

Our hearts, so often torn with anquish and with fears,
Are aching now with loneliness
And solace seek in tears.
With deep unselfish love you gave your life that we Might live securely in a world
From every tyrant free.
You do not ask our thanks. You do not need our tears.
You only plead that we keep faith
Through all the coming years
With you and all the countless slain, whose names shall hallowed be,
That men may live in peace and love
And Christian harmony.
We will keep faith! And constantly in every heart and mind
The memory of your sacrifice
Shall always be enshrined.

Sleep gently, warrior lad, in God's great care serene!
Over your grave the blue skies bend
And tender grass grows green.

...THE BOYS WRITE HOME

LIBBEY HIGH SCHOOL

December 12, 1944

My dear Friend,

Another Christmas Day is approaching and we realize that 1944 will soon be gone. During the year, Libbey has prospered. Our undefeated football team won City Championship Honors with an equal claim on State Honors. Momsen and Krall, our Co-Captains, were chosen on the All-State Team from among more than four thousand players. Our Edelian and Crystal were highly successful. Our musical organizations appeared in many concerts and brought high honor to us. Our boys and girls, in these difficult times, have tried to maintain the ideals and traditions of Libbey. And great joy has come to us because of your loyalty and the countless letters you have written.

Week by week, we have seen our boys leave for Service. We have parted from them in genuine sorrow and regret. They are now in all quarters of the globe, giving their all for us. Eighteen hundred Libbey boys and girls join in silent prayer each morning for them.

Many Service boys home on furlough come to see us and to visit Libbey. Recently, we had sixteen here for dinner. The following boys were here: Ed Shepler, just home from six months in an English hospital from wounds received in France; Neil Schmuhl, wounded severely at Saipan and now in Percy Jones Hospital; Bob Bauer, Wade Breneman, Hetzel Dickens, and Wayne Doty—all home after thirty months with the Marines in the Pacific; Bob Trumbull, home after many months in the Aleutians; Edwin Krall, Navy, wounded at Leyte; Kenneth Shepler from Great Lakes; Gerry Gaynor, Glen Schmakel, and Frank Sniegowski, Army Air Corps; Jim Foltz, Marines; Bob Bremer and Douglas Taberner, Army; and Bob Harrison, V-12. How I wish that you had been here, too!

At this Christmas Season, we are thinking of you. We are praying earnestly that you may find Happiness during this festive season. May your memories of days past enable you to relive the Christmas Days of your youth! May Peace soon come and bring you Home again! May God abundantly bless you and give you assurance of His abiding Presence! May you have Courage to face your life with all its hardships and dangers and temptations! May the War's end find you the clean, fine boy who bade us goodbye! If called into battle, may you go unafraid of the future, knowing the Son of God will walk at your side! May God bless you!

Sincerely your friend,

Harold E. Williams.

THERESA M. COEHRS

D E D I C A T I O N

Having come as a pioneer teacher to Libbey High School, the great school in the South Side community in which she was born and reared, has always been a matter of great pride and pleasure to Theresa M. Coehrs, who has given us such sincere and splendid service for many years. A graduate of old Central High School and Toledo Normal Training School, Miss Coehrs later was granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts at Toledo University. At interesting intervals from that time forward she continued her education at Toledo University, at Middlebury, Vermont, and at El Centro de Estudios Historicos in Madrid, Spain. Her early years of teaching were experienced at Newton School, now known as Marshall School. Later she taught for three years at Old Woodward High School. Throughout her life the hobbies of Miss Coehrs have been books, the theatre, travel, and the study of foreign languages. Her love of visiting strange places took her to Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Montreal, Quebec, the Gaspe Peninsula, Nova Scotia, and practically all of the United States. During one of her two visits to Europe, she was privileged to witness the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany. To us, her students at Libbey, she has been best known as a teacher of Spanish and English. Her conscientious work, her serene good nature, and her serious wish to teach her pupils goodness of character as well as excellence in subject matter have won for her our deep respect and sincere admiration. Thus it is with affection and regard that we the Class of 1945 dedicate to Miss Theresa M. Coehrs this Edelian and express to her our best wishes for her happiness and success.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Amid the ever quickening tempo of world happenings that we are confronted with today it is of vast importance to our feeling of security to have at the head of our fine system of Toledo schools a man of such splendid courage and adaptability as our superintendent, Mr. Edward L. Bowsher. The Senior Class of 1945 of Libbey salutes you, Mr. Bowsher, and wishes you constant success in your educational plans for the future and congratulates you on the fine achievements you have performed for us and our city.

PRINCIPAL OF LIBBEY HIGH SCHOOL

For four years we have learned from you, Mr. Williams, our beloved principal, lessons of constancy of purpose, devotion to duty, and an abiding faith in the triumph of goodness. For the inspiring kindness you have shown to all of us we are grateful, and we sincerely pledge that the spiritual and intellectual standards you have set for us by your work and your own example of Christian conduct will never be forgotten. We Seniors leave Libbey enriched by your precepts of tolerance, fair-mindedness, honor, and faith. You have given us much to take with us. We leave you our friendship and our love.

ELOISE BOYCE VOORHEIS

The passing of Eloise Boyce Voorheis early in October saddened the hearts of all of us. During her years of service as a teacher of mathematics and psychology, she had won the admiration of students and teachers alike because of her brilliant proparation and fine achievement. Scores of young people who knew her through her work with the Philalethian Literary Society, the Red Cross, and the Math Club treasured her friendship and were enriched by it. Formerly Dean of Freshman Girls, Miss Voorheis later became Testing Officer and also Chairman of the Everyday Living groups. Her enthusiasm, loyalty, and courageousness, so vitally genuine and sincere wherever Libbey was concerned, will always remain in our memories to inspire and encourage us. She will forever be a part of the school she loved.

IN MEMORIAM

ROLAND CONEY

Again in the same month of October we paused in sorrow when we learned of the death of Roland R. Cony. For many years Mr. Cony had filled the position of Dean of Junior Boys and in that office, as well as in his work as adviser of the Quill and Dagger Literary Society, his genial and amiable nature made many friends for him. His major work of instruction lay in the field of American History, yet he taught English also. His classes and his faculty colleagues will always remember him for his kindliness and his friendly interest in them and their activities, as well as for his constant willingness to serve Libbey.

VALEDICTORY

Life is a battle where each one
Must seek and hold his own.
He who would rise above the crowd
Must scale the heights alone.

This is the rule of life today as it has ever been. Parents, friends, and teachers can inspire us, buoy up our courage, and add fuel to the flame of our ambition, but the material of which success is made comes from within. We realize that this is a world where nothing is had for nothing—that worthwhile rewards are the results of hard work and sacrifice. Lives of great men all remind us that we too can win the battle of life and a place in history if we only will. The world bestows its smiles on those who have the strength to win.

To our parents we owe a debt that words can never repay. They are the ones who guided us in our infancy and started us on the road of life. We promise them that we will make the ideals and principles which they taught us, the guides that will lead us to our destinies.

To the many teachers who aided us in our search for knowledge, we express our heartfelt thanks. We are grateful for their help and for their interest in our welfare. We assure the faculty that we will always try to justify their faith in us.

These are momentous times in which we live. The future of the world for generations to come is being decided this very hour on the battlefields of Europe and on the islands of the Pacific. Brave young men die to preserve their ideals and their way of life for others, for us. Can we ignore the challenge of these heroes? Can we take lightly our grave duty to them? We must plan and dream and work for a world cleansed of bitterness and hatred, a world of peace and happiness. They died to purchase peace. We must live to preserve it, for ourselves and for those who will follow us. Let it be in our time that men shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks.

Destiny beckons. We are no longer children to be protected by parents and teachers, but young men and women ready to accept and to bear the responsibilities which the world will thrust upon us. Trusting in God and in our own ability, we are going forth to meet the future.

ELAINE FENNER

SALUTATORY

We, the graduates of nineteen hundred and forty-five, are about to enter a new phase in our lives. Some of us will continue on with our education; others deem it fitting to find an occupation immediately; but whatever we do, it will indeed be a new experience for us. May God guide us in the road we choose to follow. The boys, who are graduating this year, will probably serve in the armed forces before they are able to fulfill their dreams of the future; but the outlook this year is much brighter than that of the several years previous to this time. Our wish is that the class which graduates next year may have a future of peace to look forward to. But before we set out into our new phase of life it is fitting that we pay respect to all those people who have been a part of us.

We first pay tribute to our mothers and fathers who have been our guiding hand for the past eighteen years. They have sacrificed much to give us an education. No gift that we can give them can be considered a full payment for what they have done. It is right that we should continue to follow their teachings to show our appreciation for their devotion to us.

Next we pay tribute to Mr. Williams and members of the faculty of Libbey High School. We especially thank our Principal Mr. Williams for his teachings, not only educational but also spiritual. His shining example has set a goal for which we should strive. We also thank the members of the faculty for their educational guidance and their personal friendship, for they have given more of themselves than they are required to do. May we show our appreciation to them by making the best of ourselves in the field which we choose to follow.

Even though we look back on the past with happy memories, the time of our setting out has arrived. We are ready to meet the future. Those of us who have enjoyed fame, praise, and recognition here at Libbey, must not go into the world expecting the same response. We must work hard to obtain our goals. We are leaving Libbey High School. May God bless her and keep her in our longing memories.

Proof, copy, cuts, plates, ideas, and long hours of hard work—results? The Edelian. It has grown from the questionnaires circulated among the seniors and the subscription drives to the crude stages of the dummy, and at last to the unique finished product. Through this growth of progress many alterations were made to meet the ever-changing circumstances of the present day, but here it is. Your Edelian, a treasured reminder of the many happy hours spent at Libbey. The Edelian staff has employed themselves not only in bringing to view the year's bustling activities, but also in presenting to some Libbeyites a memorial.

Directing the financial department of the Edelian was Mr. Martin, who had many workers. Those assisting him have busied themselves throughout the year making ready for the actual completion of the book. Elaine Ehrenfried, as advertising manager, scrurried about collecting ads and taking subscriptions, while circulation manager, Ruth Thomas, attended to circulating the Edelian among the eager faculty and student body. Others in this group kept records, and took payments. If you've heard "Hold it please!!—Thank you!" it was just Miss Gertrude Payne popping up from nowhere anxious to obtain snapshots of all that was going on. Her pictures are included in the sports section as well as on the snapshot pages.

To the editorial department fell the responsibility of building the complete annual. Though many worked in this department they managed themselves very nicely and in a harmonious fashion. Each person was assigned to a definite portion of the book, yet all were obliging to each other at all times. Planning and organizing of the book was very efficiently done by Editor-in-chief, Noralee Terrell, and Associate editor, Bill Aufderheide. Virginia Stevens was in charge of typing copy. Senior editors were Margie Norwood, Pat Reynolds, and Eileen Robinson, while the classes were contrived by Class editors Dorothy Brown and Phayes Noyes. Dorothy Noggle, Gerry Campbell, and Elaine Drury, as Club editors, interviewed many advisers and officers to get information concerning the organization. Faculty editors, who did a most complete and thorough job, were Bonnie Stipes, Jeanne Clark, and Barbara Cox. Covering the sports very closely were Sports editors Ray Warrick and Bill Fuerst. In order that the book might be filled with pictures of scenes familiar to all of us the Snapshot editors Ann Heller and Pat Chambers worked hand-in-hand with Miss Payne.

Advising and directing the Edelian staff in their fine work was the able and conscientious Miss Ruth Dusha. Without the guidance and influence of our Principal Harold E. Williams, the book would have been impossible.

What is the quickest and most interesting way of learning the news of Libbey High School? Why, by buying a Crystal, of course. The students have long since realized this fact, and the papers are quickly sold on the days they are distributed. Besides furnishing items of interest to the students here at school, each issue of the Crystal is sent to Libbey graduates now in service. Of each edition there are about two hundred copies sent to boys stationed in all parts of the world. Proof that the boys appreciate this service is found in the many letters of thanks received by the advisers, Miss Florence Gerdes and Miss Gertrude Payne.

Together with the advisers, the staff includes the following members: Malcolm Shaw, Editor-in-Chief; Paul Allen, Assistant Editor; Ray Wymer and Dick Huffman, Sports Editors; Dick Langa, Circulation Editor; Betty Rahm, Margie Clay, and Myrna Snyder, News Editors; Betty Fulton and Aleta Dunlap, Service Editors; Rose Seitz and Ellen O'Halloran, Advertising; Mary Parker and Dorothy Morrison, Exchange and Typing; Ellen Covode, Art Editor. About the middle of the school year, it became evident that in order to continue publishing the Crystal, the price would have to be raised from five to ten cents per copy. Although the price was changed those who held activities tickets were still able to get their regular issues.

Along with the usual publications, the Journalism class was responsible for one issue and the seniors on the Crystal staff, as is their usual custom, printed a senior paper as the last one of the year. The Crystal staff owes much both to Miss Gerdes, who is literary adviser and to Miss Payne, the snapshot adviser. Although there was a serious shortage of film, Miss Payne was able to furnish the Crystal with many fine pictures. In one issue, the picture page was devoted to former Libbey boys in service and it was through the efforts of Miss Payne that the staff was able to obtain these pictures. The Crystal class also appreciates the help of Mr. Williams, who furnished so much of the service news found in the paper. After the papers were printed, the Journalism class was responsible for addressing the envelopes and folding the Crystals for the boys in service. In May, the Crystal and Journalism classes held their annual banquet at the Allen Tea House to celebrate another fine year of work.

The privilege of attaining membership in the National Honor Society is reserved for juniors and seniors only. A junior must rank in the first fifteenth of his class before he may be considered for membership; senior members are chosen from the upper third of their class. The qualifying students are voted upon by members of the faculty. Four fundamental characteristics are considered in this voting; namely, the applicant's scholastic record, his ability as a leader, the tendencies of his character traits, and his service to the school, to others, and to himself. Scholarship, leadership, character, and service—these "four great dimensions of life," as classified at the induction ceremonies, are ever kept in view by National Honor members as qualities meant to inspire, to guide, and to lead them to greater heights.

To a student in Libbey High School, the supreme honor, the loftiest attainment, the ultimate reward for all-around excellence is election to membership in the National Honor Society. This year fifty seniors and twenty-one juniors were deemed worthy of this distinction. Since twenty-three other seniors had been inducted in their junior year, the organization in its entirety boasted a membership of ninety-four select students. National Honor students may use their membership cards as permanent hall permits, a privilege reserved solely for members of this organization. In the State Scholarship tests, which were taken this year by the top 6000 seniors in Ohio, Libbey National Honor members made a creditable showing. Willard Johnson ranked third in the district and others received honorable mention.

Each semester a program was sponsored by the society to raise money. At commencement this money was given to deserving seniors in the form of college scholarships. The first program was held December 12. At this time, Beilharz, character actor, entertained a large turn out of students by giving impersonations and sketches of "makers of America." In May the student body was delighted by a "Truth and Consequence" program featuring some of the faculty as victims of "consequences" planned by the members of National Honor. The committee which planned the "Truth or Consequences" program was headed by Marilyn Fleming. Assisting her were Bill Aufderheide, Joyce Hause, Elaine Sunday, and Layton Wittenburg. National Honor members climaxed the year's activities with a closed roast held at Side Cut Park. Paul Ridenour headed the committee which made arrangements for this affair.

The members of the society elected as its officers for this year, Malcolm Shaw, president; Elaine Fenner, vice-president; Elaine Drury, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Jennings, sergeant-at-arms. Dorothy Foltz was the social chairman. The society's adviser is Mr. Orwig.

Ship Ahoy! The jolly Peri Pirates hoisted their sails and set out for a rollicking year. A roast given at Side-Cut Park began the season. The Peries, clad in vivid and colorful pirate costumes, amid a skull-and-crossbone atmosphere presented the DeVilbiss mass-meeting. A huge horse-shoe made of yellow chrysanthemums was given to the team and coaches to bring luck in the final game of the season. Dashing silver reindeers, shimmering icicles, and mellow music could bring back nothing but the memories of the Reindeer Revel, one of the most outstanding and successful dances of the year. It was held at Calumet Temple in December. On St. Valentine's Day a formal initiation tea was given in honor of new Periclean members. With the coming of spring the girls gave another roast at Side-Cut Park. The social program was closed for the year with the Annual Faculty-Mothers Tea in April, and the Senior Banquet in May.

With their many social activities, the Peries combine much earnest literary study. The program chosen for the year was the cultural background of France. Reports were given on French music, art, literature, architecture, and theater. A trip to the Art Museum completed the literary program. The Peries owe much of their outstanding leadership to their very capable and ever guiding adviser Miss Dusha. The officers for the year were Noralee Terrell, president; Phayes Noyes, vice-president; Virginia Stevens, censor; Sue Cony, recording secretary; Jeanne Clark, corresponding secretary; Ann Heller, treasurer; and Gerry Campbell, chaplain.

Bubbling over with pep and enthusiasm, the light-hearted Phil lassies opened the season with a bang by donning war-paint and feathers and cheering the Cowboys to a victory over Waite, with their snappy mass-meeting, "The Phil Pow-Wow." This success was rapidly followed by a rustic barn-dance in the gym for the Phils and their dates. A welcome relief from the tension of the mid-year tests was provided by the Exam Jam, an informal dance held in the gym at which Denny Dim-Wit was an honored guest. Lacey valentines and big hearts were very much in evidence at the Mothers' Tea held in the library February 25. No social calendar could be complete without a spring outing and the Phil picnic was a gay affair, for the inventive Phils with their flair for new ideas broke away from the usual hot-dogs and pop and gave a pot-luck supper with games and dancing at Side-Cut Park. A fitting climax for the highly productive year was the annual banquet given early in May at which the pledges were formally initiated and the senior girls were presented with their gifts.

The talks about personality and good grooming which constituted the literary program for the year provided an opportunity for some highly amusing as well as beneficial discussions in which the entire club participated. The capable and well chosen cabinet consisted of Dorothy Foltz, president; Elaine Drury, vice-president; Elaine Sautter, recording secretary; Glenna Reinlein, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Noggle, senior censor; Sue Alberte, junior censor; and Marjorie Norwood, chaplain. The organization's admirable advisers are Miss Florence Gerde and Miss Ruth Allen.

Yeh man! These girls are really in the groove! Looking simply super in their moss-green short-sleeved sweaters, the Zets started their year of fun with a roast at Side-Cut Park. Then suddenly these girls changed into wicked witches at their mass-meeting for the Central game. Their clever parodies and striking color schemes made a pretty sharp performance. In March, "The Shamrock Shag," the annual dance, was held at Calumet Temple under the direction of chairman, Elaine Ehrenfried. The unique advertising, attractive pledge stunts, and artistic posters made the dance a success. In honor of their mothers, the Zets gave a tea in April. A book review was given by Mrs. John Kline and was enjoyed by all who attended. Closing the year's activities, the Zets held their annual banquet and formal initiation at the Woman's Building.

The theme for this year's work was a timely and interesting one, "Women in the Armed Forces." As a part of the literary program each member gave a report on the various branches of the Women's Corps. Of course, the money problem arose, and so to get around this, a potato chip sale was held. In addition the Zets undertook the job of selling Senior name cards. The object of the club is to teach good fellowship, value of co-operation, consideration of others, and commendable school spirit, and in these the Zets have excelled. The club's advisers are Miss Grace DeLisle, Miss Aileen Eberth, and Miss Grace Henderson. The officers were Toni Saccucci, president; Elaine Ehrenfried, vice-president; Rose Seitz, recording secretary; Colleen Donahue, corresponding secretary; Ellen O'Halloran, treasurer; Dottie Powers, sergeant-at-arms; Elaine Sunday, censor and historian; and Margaret Koepp, chaplain.

The Forum and Q.D.'s, together boasting a membership of seventy of the sharpest, smoothest, sagest characters in Libbey's male element, continued their friendly rivalry in a most congenial manner this year. To be certain that they would not make a dull boy of the proverbial Jack, the two societies dispensed for the most part with the literary side of their programs and promoted a fast-moving array of social activities. The Forum began their social activities by holding a roast at Side-Cut Park. Libbeyites enjoyed the first lit dance of the season, November 24 at the Woman's Building, when the Forum held "The Swingfest." A splash party at the Y.M.C.A. and a theater party on April 14, and in the spring a roast and a banquet, marked the end of another year. The officers for 1944-45 were: Malcolm Shaw, president; Jim Forster, vice-president; Raymond Warrick, secretary; Bob Heyman, treasurer; and Bob Wisbon, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Harold McClure and Mr. Melvin Mortimer are the advisers.

Refusing to take a back seat in the social whirl, the Q.D.'s held an afternoon picnic in the fall at Side-Cut Park. Later in the year the twenty-seven orange-clad swains sponsored their annual dance, "The Shindig," held February 24 at Calumet Temple. Bill Fuerst was chairman of the dance committee. A roast highlighted the organization's spring activities. Their annual banquet was held in May and was planned by Bill Fuerst. Directing the Q.D. activities this year were these capable officers: Tom Moore, president; Bill Fuerst, vice-president; Melvin Breitner, secretary; Don Black, treasurer; and John Sarchiz, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Roscoe Baker is the faculty adviser.

Dedicated to the service of others and endeavoring to find and give the best of every girl, the Senior Friendship flourished this year under the leadership of Joyce Hause as president; Elaine Sunday, vice-president; Lois Belk, corresponding secretary; Inez Carsner, recording secretary; Treva Beard, treasurer; and Aranna Anderson, chaplain. With their enthusiastic adviser, Miss Ruth Allen, the club has contributed much to our school. The girls baked home made cookies at Christmas for the U.S.O. and once more gave their annual banquet in honor of our football squad in December. The Forums held every Sunday at the Y.M.C.A. were attended faithfully by the girls. A potato chip sale followed soon, which helped to fill the treasury.

The many social events started in October with a book review, "Anna and the King of Siam" by Mrs. Paul Alexander. A pot-luck Christmas party was held at the Y.M.C.A. and the front hall of Libbey was once more adorned by the huge Christmas tree, furnished and decorated by the girls of the Senior Friendship. A combined meeting of the Hi-Y and Friendship followed soon and then later a very interesting meeting was held in which three boys told what they liked and disliked about girls. A colossal skating party was sponsored by all three Friendship Clubs at the Coliseum. The Lenten services at Libbey were presented under the auspices of the Senior Friendship in conjunction with the Hi-Y. In the early spring a breakfast was held for the girls in the cafeteria and finally, a lovely conclusion to a fine year of work, a spring banquet delighted each Friendship girl.

The program followed by the Junior Friendship Club is one of service for others. Under the guidance of their able adviser, Miss Grace Irwin, the girls followed through the year with service work and gay social events. A roller skating party was carried out by the Junior Friendship along with the other Friendship Clubs. A song-fest with Mrs. Schell was a high point of enjoyment for everyone. Miss Russell talked to the girls on the Girl Reserve Code, while "Life In a Rehabiltation Camp" was the subject of a talk by Kay Yokaume. The Reverend Paul L. Baumgardner delivered an inspiring Christmas message to all the girls.

In connection with their program of social work, the Junior Friendship filled the World Fellowship Bank with their pennies. In November they helped serve at the World Fellowship Banquet. At Christmas time they sang carols at the Old Folk's Home and gave them cookies, candies, and apples. Concluding a fine year of work and service was the annual spring banquet held at the school. All the members of the Junior Friendship Club are planning on an even more active participation in the great work of the Friendship Clubs next year as seniors. Leading the girls in their excellent work this year were Marilyn Moore, president; Ann Snare, vice-president; Dorothy Klein, recording secretary; Adeline Magno, corresponding secretary; Marilyn Schroeder, treasurer; and Janet Dietrich, chaplain. They can be very proud of their achievement in service and character building.

Proving that the old proverb, "Too many cooks spoil the soup," is not true, the Sophomore Friendship Club continued the excellent work of previous years with an enrollment of seventy-three girls. Under the guidance of Miss Jean Gilbert, the friendship girls learned to recognize and follow the true meaning of their motto, "To Face Life Squarely." With the help of the following officers: Donna Walker, president; Marilyn Bracht, vice-president; Peggy Jo Shannon, recording secretary; Mary Hirschy, corresponding secretary; Dorlene Coger, treasurer; and Sheldon Baldwin, chaplain, the club carried out a varied and interesting program of entertainment and social work. The first event was a Christmas party held in the gymnasium and a Christmas program given in the school auditorium. During the holiday season the girls also went caroling, with Mrs. Schell as their leader. The club as a group wrapped Christmas packages which they took to the Orphans' Home.

In February a skating party was held at the Coliseum and the club presented a program to the Sophomore girls, with Miss Louise Herler as guest speaker. At Easter time the girls colored eggs and made favors which they also took to the Orphanage. A pot luck supper at the Y.W.C.A. was held later in the year and the girls worked diligently to complete scrapbooks which were presented to the U.S.O. During February, the club also took an active interest in the weekly forums at the Y.M.C.A. With two more years of service in the Junior and Senior Friendship Clubs, these girls will continue their fine work so necessary to our school.

Pledging service to others and world-wide friendship, the Red Cross, in addition to its fine work in the school, has performed many acts of kindness and helpfulness throughout the world. Since the death of Miss Voorheis, Miss May has taken over the duties as adviser of the Red Cross. Early in the year the members, packed and sent fifty Christmas boxes to the desolate children in the war-torn countries. The children at the William Roche Hospital were given books and puzzles for Christmas. One hundred decks of playing cards were provided for servicemen in convalescent hospitals, as well as a recreation chest. The Red Cross assisted the French Club in purchasing a complete outfit for an eight-year-old French war orphan. The work of the Red Cross, especially at this time in our history, is well deserving of our praise. Leading the members in their excellent service for others this year were Lois Kochenmeister, president; Marilyn Bracht, vice-president; Joanne Bunge, secretary; and Virginia Cox, treasurer.

The foremost aim of the Student Council this year has been to check Juvenile Delinquency. With Mr. Lynn, Miss Allen, Miss Dusha, and Mr. Mortimer as the advisers, this organization has been a benefit to the entire school. The members of the Student Council are elected by the student body and in that way are direct representatives of the students themselves. Excessive gum chewing, tardiness, and frequent absence are among the problems which this organization has been attempting to eliminate. One serious problem this year has been the uncleanliness of the cafeteria and halls and the solution to it lies only with each and every pupil of Libbey. Leading the members during the past year were Don Poenicke, president; Max Rothschild, vice-president; and Dorothy Foltz, secretary-treasurer.

With the high ideal of Christian character before them and a staunch purpose to guide their activities along the path of this ideal, the Senior Hi-Y club, under the guidance of Principal Harold E. Williams and Mr. George Keifer, enjoyed another year of service and inspiration. Continuing with its policy of combining junior and senior members into one club, the Senior Hi-Y elected the following officers: Robert Kramer, president; Max Rothschild, vice-president; Ralph Heuerman, secretary-treasurer, and Hillis McKenzie, chaplain.

The bi-monthly meetings were always opened with a ten-minute devotional service conducted by the boys themselves under the direction of Chaplain McKenzie. The power of prayer, especially in these times of war, was greatly emphasized to the members by Principal Williams, who through his conscientious efforts instilled in the Hi-Y boys the inspiration to maintain and extend throughout the school and community the highest standards of Christian character. A fine social program of the year was highlighted by the annual Mothers' and Sons' Banquet held in May. The Hi-Y clubs again collaborated with the Friendship girls in planning and prepairing an unusually fine series of Lenten Services for the student body. A joint Hi-Y Friendship club party and an evening of magic with Magician Harry Opel were additional highspots of the social program. The unusually fine group of distinguished speakers included Edward Gilliland, President of the Toledo Baseball Club; Judge Frank Wiley; Alan Saunders, well-known comic strip creator; Joseph F. Rawlinson, superintendent of the Toledo Shipbuilding Company; and our own, Principal Harold E. Williams.

Following in the footsteps of the older boys, the Junior Hi-Y, composed of freshmen and sophomores, dedicated their year of activities to the same high principle of Christian living that activates the Senior group. These younger boys also have been under the direct guidance of Principal Harold E. Williams, who gave much of his time and effort to mold them into the splendid citizens of Libbey that they are. Aiding Mr. Williams in his work of inspiration and instruction through the year was Mr. Francis Aseltyne. The officers of this group were the same as those of the Senior Hi-Y.

The Junior Hi-Y colloborated with the Senior Hi-Y in all the programs of the year. Of especial value to the younger group was their participating in the Sunday Forums, conducted at the Central Y.M.C.A., for to many of them this was a new experience. The Lenten programs will long be remembered for they presented to our school a series of thought-provoking and serious talks which were given by the following Toledo clergymen: the Reverend P. B. Piper of Bethel Lutheran; the Reverend A. S. Carlson of Pilgrim Congregational; the Reverend Alfred C. Peterson of Westminster Presbyterian; the Reverend Harold Davis of Plymouth Congregational; the Reverend Lloyd Holloway of Trilby Methodist; and the Reverend Byron Hughes of Grand Rapids Methodist. The high standard of accomplishment of all the Hi-Y members will continue to be a challenge to all of the organizations of Libbey.

You're wanted in 109 or 148! The tread of students' footsteps can be heard going to and from the room of Mr. Charles Martin, able director of Athletic and Activities Department at Libbey. The purpose of this club is to promote interest and participation in events throughout the school year. This is very capably done by Mr. Martin's chosen workers who are kept busy selling activities tickets, taking subscriptions, and distributing the Edelian and mimeographing advance literature on all events in the school. The great deal of work that is accomplished in the Activities Department means long tedious hours after classes and during the summer vacations. This work is efficiently completed by Elaine Ehrenfried, Advertising Manager of the Edelian; Ruth Thomas, Circulation Manager of the Edelian; Don Ramsdell, mimeographing manager; and their faithful assistants: Wilma Sheffert, Sue Alberte, Martha Jimison, Helen Ellerman, Pat Cairl, Doris Stone, Jerry Feltman, and Mary Helen Seideman.

The Deans' Aides under the leadership of Miss Brown, Dean of Girls and Mr. Rusie, Dean of Boys, have faithfully served Libbey during the past year. With the Deans' helpful guidance the students have found the answers to their many problems. The girls are chosen for this work in their freshman year under these qualifications: dependability, efficiency, courtesy, and scholarship. One year must be completed before credit is given. Their duty consists of general office work which is helpful to the girls who are planning to continue in their field. The girls take turns staying after school one night a week to do extra filing and to make out reports. The Deans' Aides look forward to their annual picnic at the end of the year.

To develop the creative talent of its members and give them practical experience in the interpreting and producing of plays is the principal purpose of The Libbey Dramatic Club. With the splendid cooperation of the group and the capable adviser Miss Costigan, this organization has been able to promote the dramatic activities of the school. Libbey has greatly enjoyed the many one-act plays presented by this club. When school opened, they began their work immediately and in November they presented two one-act plays, "Red Carnation," and "Love In Bloom." Again in March the props went up and the Dramatic Club triumphed again with "Dinner For Two" and "Little Prison." The Junior and Senior class plays, "Sunrise By Request," and "Every Family Has One," were presented under the sponsorship of The Libbey Dramatic Club.

Beginning the many social events of the year was a roast on November 4. In January a party was held after school for all the members and in the spring, the eighth annual banquet was given. The excellent outcome of these events was due to the ambitious Phyllis McDermott and her committee. The Dramatic Club has carried out its purpose of promoting cooperation and friendship between its members. For the wonderful work of the club this year we have to thank Jacquilene Smith, president; Clarence Gartz, vice-president; Phyllis Reynolds, recording secretary; Lois Belk, corresponding secretary; Gloria Moore, treasurer.

One of Libbey's most prized possessions is her choir, which this year as always has brought acclaim and renown to the school. This fame was acquired through long and hard hours of work preparing programs which the members of the choir presented to various luncheon clubs. In November the year's program was officially opened when the members engaged in a program for the North Western Teachers' Convention. After the convention they appeared before the Douglas Community Center, and the Lion's Club. During the Christmas Season the choir gave a special program of Christmas Carols which was broadcast from the B. R. Baker Company. After the holidays Libbey's singers participated in a service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church and later filled a second engagement at the Lion's Club. After an exciting year of activity and performance their final program was the May Festival in the Macomber Auditorium, May 20.

This group of talented young people was under the direction of Mr. McClure, a new addition to the Libbey faculty, who arrived here in September from Kent, Ohio. Mr. McClure, although new in the faculty has won the admiration and friendship of both his students and fellow-teachers. Aiding him were the officers of the choir: Paul Ridenour, president; Leonard Kevelder, vice-president; Pat Clark, secretary; Rosemarie Munding, treasurer; Harry Coleman, sergeant-at-arms. Though the entire choir was excellent there were several outstanding soloists. Among this group were Paul Ridenour, Virginia Cox, Phyllis Rosenberg, Margie Papke, Doris Schnetzler, and Jean Solomon.

With marching feet and bright flags flying, the Libbey Band marched down the field to the stirring rhythm of the school song. With its outstanding music, members, and director is it any wonder that every Libbeyite is proud of the band? Indeed Libbey has one to be proud of. Many a football fan has thrilled to the rhythmic tempo of the music and the flashing blue and gold uniforms. However, this band was not just presented to Libbey, but was achieved through hours of hard work and strenuous drilling. The work of the band included not only playing at the football games and for mass-meetings, but also giving numerous concerts and programs. In the spring such concerts were given for the elementary schools in the district, and also for Jones Junior High. The first of these concerts was given the nineteenth of April at Walbridge School where a delightful program including "The Stradella Overture," "Serenade," and several of Tschaikowsky's compositions, was presented. This program was given to introduce the band to the grade school students and to try to interest them in its work at Libbey. The year was brought to a close by a concert at Libbey. What the band lacked in size and number it made up in spirit and cooperation and every student will agree that it has lent color and zeal to the school. Not only did the members labor zealously during school hours, but also in addition to their regular school program the greater part of the band participated in a city-wide orchestra composed of nearly one hundred members which met every Tuesday night to practice in order to present concerts at the Walbridge Park Ampitheater in the spring. This organization was also under the able direction of Mr. McClure.

"Ita est! Ita est!" Here are two organizations of our school which work to promote interest in the Classics, Fine Arts, Ancient History, and Latin. Yes, we are referring to the Libbey Classical League and the Latin Honor Society. The Libbey Classical League has definitely fulfilled its purpose by the program carried out this year. Through its efforts the school was privileged to hear Professor James E. Dunlap of Michigan University, and at this time a beautiful trophy was awarded to our library by the League. Grade schools of South Toledo were visited by Latin students who demonstrated the value of Latin in everyday life. Trips were made to the Art Museum and to the Holy Rosary Cathedral in order that the members might better appreciate art. The able advisers, Miss Aileen Eberth and Mrs. Pauline Burton, were assisted by the cabinet members: consul primus, Lois Belk; consul secundus, Elaine Fenner; praetor, Paul Pruetor; quaester, Phyllis Ferguson; aedile, Clydabelle Padgett.

No greater honor can be bestowed on a Latin Student than to become a member of the Latin Honor Society. An "A" average for two consecutive semesters and no grade below "B" thereafter is the requirement. The society presents to the student showing the most interest in his daily work during the year a sterling silver Latin Honor Medal. The Eta Sigma Phi National Honor award was presented at Commencement to the outstanding four-year student. The officers appointed by Mrs. Pauline Burton, the club's adviser, were president, Paul Prueter; vice-president, Elaine Fenner; and secretary-treasurer, Lois Belk.

Good neighbor policy? Yes, indeed! This up-and-coming organization develops in its members a wholehearted interest in our relations with Spain and the Latin American countries. No wonder these senors and senoritas have had such a fine year under the splendid guidance of Miss Theresa Coehrs and Miss Mary Russell. The achievements of La Tertulia Castellana were also due to its most capable officers, headed by Dick Herold, president; Marilyn Fleming, vice-president; Theone Gerst, secretary; Annette Black, treasurer; and Walter Ballard, sergeant-at-arms. As a basis for their program the club has used "El Eco," and "La Luz," papers written in Spanish and filled with interesting and valuable material. In connection with this, the members have studied our Latin American neighbors and our relations with them. They have probed into the history of the old country of Spain and studied the quaint Spanish customs. The advisers have related the story of their journeys into Spain and their experiences there.

Starting the social events for the year was the annual initiation and roast at Walbridge Park Shelter House in November. Following this a Christmas Party at the Y.M.C.A. in December was held with Dick Goodwin as committee chairman. Certainly each member finished the year with the feeling that the knowledge and friendship he has gained during his association with the Spanish Club will follow him all through life.

Opportunity knocks but seldom, and the members of the French and Lib Clubs realize this. With that fact in mind the advisers of the two clubs have done much to promote and encourage any interest students might have in the languages and arts. Under the direction of Miss Krueger and the following officers: Virginia Cox, president; Dolores Leatherman, vice-president; Carol Hill, treasurer; and Marilyn Palmer and June Sowry, censors; the French Club started their social year with a Christmas party complete with a gift exchange, refreshments, games, and French carols. In April the French and Spanish Clubs combined to have a roast at Ottawa Park, with committees from both clubs working together. During April the French Club also sponsored a Fudge Sale to raise needed funds as part of their program of work. The club purchased a complete outfit for a refugee child in France and this was shipped overseas by the American Friends Service. To finish a varied and interesting year, the members held a closing party late in May.

Through the combined efforts of Miss Bartley, adviser; Christine Ritter, Editor; Jerry Ulrich, Assistant Editor; and a staff of twelve, including Ellen Covode, Don Dick, Aleta Dunlap, Evelyn Kerns, Frank Gwandy, Rosemary Lorenzen, Tom Lasco, Dolores Leatherman, Pat Reynolds, Eugene Steiner, Bill Stoner, and Hobart Welsh; the Lib has far surpassed previous years in success. The Lib was published twice during the school year. The Lib staff also designed a club pin which would distinguish them from other organizations. In January, Jack Jimison, a former Lib member was home on furlough and the Club held a party in the art room in Jack's honor. In the latter part of May, the club had their annual banquet.

"Where's my measuring cup?" "How many eggs?" "Who has the lens and where is the reel?" are the cries we hear from rooms 122 and 234, where the Projection and Home Economics Clubs meet. This year as in previous years, the Projection Club has presented an excellent program of visual education for the pupils, in order that they might better understand the subjects they are studying. In addition to teaching the operation of film and slide projectors, the club taught its members how to use the catalogues in ordering films and the evaluation of pictures. The social activities included initiation and a skating party. "The Cat and the Canary" sponsored by the Club, was shown March 2. The adviser Mr. Henry Lincke was assisted by Rita Ludwig, president; Ted Pleiss, vice-president; Lucille Zinser, secretary; Barbara Haye, treasurer; Georgia Hite, sergeant-at-arms.

To form a connecting link between the home and the school is the object of the Home Economics Club. This they have accomplished not only by studying the latest styles in home decoration but also by learning how to prepare food. The girls, however, have not forgotten the all important fun. A roast was held at Walbridge Park in October and later in December the Home Economic girls of Waite joined our Home Economic girls to hold a merry Christmas Party in Libbey. The officers, Iris Ganun, president; Mary Leonhardt, vice-president; May Roadwiler, secretary; Dorothy Garber, treasurer; Mary Lou Flowers, reporter, were directed by the able advisers Miss Murbach, Miss Wylie, and Miss Owen.

Cooperation, recreation, and relaxation! Yes, these alert and energetic sons and daughters of Libbey have learned the sport of competition. Social events were eliminated in the Chess Club in order that the boys might devote more time to their tournament games. The games arranged among the members lasted for three months. At the end of that period the boys were ready to compete with boys from other schools. DeVilbiss was their first opponent. Mr. Lynn not only advised this group, but also encouraged them to develop skill and more mental activity. Officers for the year were Bob D. Kaiser, president; Hillis McKenzie, vice-president; and Bill Heater, secretary-treasurer.

The Girls' Athletic Association, too, devoted most of its time to strenuous physical exercise rather than social activity. Both Basketball and Volleyball tournaments were held after school and offered much stiff competition for the opposing teams. Early in the year a Basketball Party was held at DeVilbiss, at which these girls had a romping good time and made a good showing. A bicycle hike to Side-Cut Park was another event given by the Girls' Athletic Association. The advisers of the group, Miss Maher and Miss Atwell, stimulated in the girls good sportsmanship, leadership, and high ideals for healthful living. The officers for the year were Dorothy Roe, president; Ruth Dybala, vice-president; Letha Busick, secretary; and Pat Walter, treasurer.

The Biology Club has done a wonderful job this year, not only of creating interest in nature, but also, in acquainting the students with the birds, animals, and insects of our surroundings. To promote interest in practical and recreational phases of biology is the purpose of the club. Through its efforts this organization has received membership in the Toledo Naturalist Society and The Science Clubs of America. In connection with the club's program of study, Miss Florence Gates gave a talk on Christmas Greens. Herbert Ramsdell, home from the Pacific War Theatre, acquainted the members with the plants and animals of the South Seas. A movie, "Scientists of Tomorrow," was presented.

The fun-filled social calendar got off to a flying start early in the year with a picnic and initiation at Walbridge Park in October. In November, the annual skating party was held at Memorial Hall. The Biology Club spent a day at the Bowling Green Science Day, an exhibit in which every high school in the state is represented. To close their many social events for the year was the final picnic held in May. Under the most efficient guidance of Miss Fiedler and Miss Pickard, the advisers, the Biology Club has risen to new heights this year with its varied program of science and friendly social events. Leading the club were: William Heater, president; Ruth Haase, vice-president; Ruth Dybala, secretary; and Richard Huffman, treasurer.

High spirited and fun-loving, the enthusiastic members of the Commercial Club merrily rolled up their sleeves and pitched in to chalk up another busy and delightful season. By holding a series of spirited discussions during the year the organization ably carried out its main objective, which is to further interest in business education, to induce students to enter business course, and to help people find jobs through commercial experiences. Much of the success of this program is to be credited to the clubs energetic advisers, Mrs. Mary O. Houser and Mr. John Osgood.

All work and no play would be a dull diet for anyone; thus the Commercial Club included in its schedule a well-rounded social calendar which was initiated by a jolly Christmas party December thirteenth. Careful not to neglect the financial side of their organization, the members all assisted Marilyn Trumpy with the ever popular fudge and cookie sale held in the main hall on December twentieth. Next on the program was an open skating party at which the whole school spent an evening of rollicking amusement. Winding up their whirl of activities for the season, the club's spring banquet for the newly elected members gave the seniors a beautiful memory to carry with them as they left school to make their place in the world of business. A great help in the social and business program were the well chosen cabinet members who were Joan Cook, president; Evelyn Sankiewicz, vice-president; Lois Holtz, secretary; and Joyce Whitney, treasurer.

DR. CHARLES H. WILLIAMS

Since the opening of Libbey there has been one patron who has been outstanding in his generosity to and interest in everything that our school has attempted. That man is Dr. Charles H. Williams, the brother of our principal. His loyalty and devotion to Libbey have been unfailing. Because of his own cultural zeal, he has stimulated the student body to be alert to those qualities that promote scholarship and leadership; and to reward such effort he has provided year after year rewards that have been commensurate with such student effort. In sports also he has ever been the sponsor of the best of every activity. The magnificent trophies in Libbey attest to his interest and munificence, and happy are the students who receive the Charles H. Williams award. Our gratitude to him is boundless and our wish for his welfare and happiness is equally as great as his kindness and generosity to us has been.

COACH JAMES W. ORWIG

In spite of public opinion, Coach Orwig and his boys proved to football fans, that the complicated T-formation could be successfully carried out by a high school. Once again he has turned out a championship team, a fact which in itself proves his ability as coach. Throughout the season he was constantly on the job, training, coaching, and encouraging his boys in the difficult task set before them. His efforts were rewarded at the end of the season when Libbey High claimed the title of Ohio State Champions. Indeed, we of Libbey are proud of the results our coach has achieved through his tireless efforts to put Libbey on top. To you, Mr. Orwig, go our wholehearted congratulations and wishes for future success.

ADMINISTRATION

Behind every successful sports program there is a director whose business lies in a multitude of activities that require careful planning and painstaking execution. The work of such directing at Libbey is in the capable hands of Charles R. Martin, whose tact and geniality added to his efficiency, enable him to keep the machinery of a difficult department rolling easily and smoothly. In addition to drawing up the schedules of all sports for 1944-45, Mr. Martin produced again an excellent series of football programs that gave much favorable publicity to our school. Working as assistant to the Director of Athletics, Orville V. Henrion continued his work of bookkeeping, ticket checking, and equipment managing. The value of both Mr. Martin and Mr. Henrion in all that pertains to athletics and sports at Libbey is recognized and appreciated by everyone.

THE DOCTORS

Even great brawn and muscle needs a lift occasionally, and thus it is very important that every athletic department include the service of well-trained and sympathetic medicos who will keep the boys in fine physical condition during all the seasons of sports. During the past year Libbey was again fortunate enough to have the services of Dr. R. C. Young and Dr. R. D. Ladd. Throughout many years both of these men have made many friends among our athletes and are loyal boosters of Libbey.

LIBBEY'S COACHES

Everyone remembers the old saying "Because of a nail a shoe was lost!" and thinks of it as being synonomous with carelessness in small matters. But Libbey has no such lack of attention to training from the beginning in matters athletic. Our strong varsity teams are not lucky accidents but the product of carefully laid groundwork on the part of a capable coaching staff who work young athletes from the raw material stage to the hardy veterans who build up championship records for South Side Toledo. Acting as head varsity coach for the second of a record smashing year in football as well as making a fine showing in varsity basketball, Bill Orwig continued to pile laurels up for Libbey. As Line Coach, Al Jeffery did a creditable job and did more than his share of work throughout the season. Bus Harding and Ben Jeffery, Al's brother who teaches at Macomber Vocational, were efficient and hard pounding Lightweight Coaches. Aiding in the instruction of the famous T-formation, Bob Snyder proved a great aid to Libbey. Fall and Spring found Coach Bill Everhart lining up his sprinters for their work and honors in track and cross-country. Bill also served efficiently as manager of equipment. The indoor and outdoor prowess of Coach Spackey's Bowling Team and Golf Team have also brought honors to Libbey. It's a great bunch of coaches we have with not a hitch in the line. Our athletics are good because the coaches are good!

Libbey's Golden Cowboys steamed through nine opponents in successfully completing one of the finest seasons in the history of the school. Unbeaten and untied throughout the 1944 schedule, Libbey was not only honored by winning the city championship, but also ranked as the outstanding team in the state. Accomplishments like these can only be brought about by long sessions of hard work with the coaches and a spirit of loyalty on the part of the team.

Libbey's first victory was at the expense of Waite with a score of 7 to 0 on a pass from Sarchiz to Krall. Much credit for the win also must be given to the line who played a great defensive game in holding the Waite backfield from scoring. Scott was the next team to step into the Cowboys' path and once more Libbey came out the victor by a score of 20 to 0. Co-captain Momsen's defensive play was outstanding in this game as well as in the other games during the year, combining speed and power with a good passing attack. Libbey coasted to a convincing 25 to 13 victory over a strong Irish team. Outstanding line performances were turned in the game by McNeil, Black, and Collins. The Cowboys steamrollered through another opponent by beating Woodward 26 to 6. The hard playing of Rizzo was the feature of the night, for it was his last game before leaving for the Navy, which was a great loss to the team. The most important game of the season followed, and after a slow start our team again came through with flying colors, defeating Waite 35 to 14 in one of the hardest fought games of the year. highlighted the game when he scored three touchdowns on long runs of 91, 78, and 24 yards. Again Scott went down at the hands of the Libbey team for the second time this year, this time to the score of 26 to 6. Rothschild who had just stepped up to take Rizzo's place, and Gray the left end played well in this victory. Central next tried to knock our team from the undefeated ranks, but we literally ran wild and set Central back 33 to 7. The quarter-backing of Sarchiz, the running of Krall, and defensive play of Momsen, were the margin between victory and defeat. The hard running by Jennings and Breitner, plus the support of Walbolt on the line, did much to aid in the victory over Woodward who put up a stubborn battle but were defeated 26 to 0. In the last game of the season Libbey engaged DeVilbiss in the annual Thanksgiving Day game. The team ran wild; and although DeVilbiss put up a good fight at some parts of the game, the Cowboys won by the wide margin of 41 to 6. In playing their last game of football of their high school career the seniors played a great game all the way. Much of the credit for this year's remarkable record is due to the coaches Orwig and Jeffery, and also to Bob Snyder who introduced the "T" formation to Libbey this past year. The excellent physical condition and mental attitude of the players resulted from the hard work of the coaches as well as from the loyalty of the team.

Libbey was also honored this year in having Tony Momsen and Jerry Krall chosen by the sports writer on the all State teams and Ed MeNeil receiving honorable mention.

BASKETBALL

Swish! and another basketball season is under way. After getting off to a slow start, the Libbey quintet started rolling, and by mid-season had hit their stride. Winning seven and losing five games of their regular city schedule, plus coming in as runner-up in the district, built up a very successful season for Coach Orwig and his boys. The Cowboys started off the season by dropping the first game to Woodward, 38 to 21. Undiscouraged however, Libbey turned on the steam and won victories over Waite and Central 32 to 27 and 45 to 39. Macomber and Scott proved pretty tough material and Libbey was beaten 56 to 23 and 37 to 27. In winning the DeVilbiss game 39 to 32, Libbey ended the half-way mark with three victories and three losses. The Cowboys did much better in the second round, losing only to Woodward and Macomber 39 to 27 and 35 to 26 respectively. The Libbey quintet, with spirits high, crashed through the next four opponents, defeating Waite 32 to 30; Central 49 to 42; Scott 28 to 24; and DeVilbiss 34 to 25. Playing in the district tournament the Cowboys won victories over DeVilbiss and Scott which brought us up against Macomber for the championship. The championship battle was a nip-and-tuck affair for three quarters. However, in the final quarter the rangy Craftsmen pulled steadily ahead and came out the winner, Libbey receiving runnerup honors.

We at The Home Building and Savings Company—902 Broadway at Segur—have completed more than a half a century of service—and wish to congratulate the members of the 21st graduating class of Libbey High School.

Many former students, their parents and the staff of this great institution of learning have come to The Home for advice and service over this 21-year period—a fact of which we are very proud.

You, like your fathers and mothers, will some day want to own your own home. When you are ready to take this step, we will be glad to consider your application for a home loan just as we have those of your parents, your school staff and many of your former school mates.

Your Home Loan Belongs at The Home.

A SUGGESTION FOR YOUR Dream House

BRING Sunshine INSIDE

Think what a blessing it would be to have natural daylight flooding the work counter in your kitchen! Then—why not enjoy that luxury? An Insulux Glass Block panel can be installed—quickly and easily—and at comparatively small expense.

Talk with your architect or builder about the use of Insulux in kitchen, living room, bedroom and bath.
